

Stanley Thompson

DORMIE - June Outing

The June 10 and 11 Thompson Outing played at Peterborough G&CC and Kawartha G&CC respectively, took on a misty, pastoral English look during two days of wet weather. Pictures courtesy of Bob (Yusuf) Weaver. And, of course, no one took a picture of photographer Bob. Shown left, is Bob at a Donald Ross Society Outing.

Derek Dobbs, Outing Chair of the Donald Ross Society (left) and Bob Weaver at the 2010 Ross Outing, Hyde Park GC, Florida.

Hyde Park historical note
While it is true that in The Architects of Golf, Cornish and Whitten suggest that Hyde Park was remodeled (1926) by Stanley Thompson, the provenance is not clearly established, and management there still insists that the original design (1925) was by Donald Ross.
"Thompson involvement seems possible as the large and high green-side bunkers with flashed-up faces are more Thompson-like than Ross. Another possibility is that Thompson's construction company did the build from Ross drawings."

"The dull and damp weather was more than made up for by the bright and lively discussion around the dinner table - a conversation focused on the value of Golden Era golf courses whose original integrity has been maintained over the years.
A few days later, while they were watching the US Open at Merion, I imagine most of the participants were thinking how prescient the conversation had been."

-MICHAEL CRUICKSHANK

(top row, left to right) Bill Dines (left) and Michael Cruickshank contemplate their tee shot on Kawartha's number eight.

Ian and Marie Tulip with Beth and Chris McKay,

Pierre Blum (left), Ed Wszol and Bill Dines.

Linda Campbell, Chris Dobson and Michael Cruickshank,

The Tulip/McKay group on Peterborough's number six.

(centre row, left and right) The finishing hole at Peterborough; and the view from Kawartha's number seven tee.

(bottom row, left to right) Dines, Blum and Wszol discuss their round; part of the group at the reception at Peterborough; and the club's President, Peter Blodgett welcomes everyone before dinner; Kirsten Brown, guest speaker, with Michael Cruickshank, STS Special Events, Co-chairs.